

National Popcorn Day

Author : Mike Smith

Categories : Food

Date : January 19, 2010

I'm sure you already know that today is National Popcorn Day. The origins of this holiday are unclear, and it is even more mysterious given that National Popcorn Month is October. Hmm. In order to facilitate your celebration, I want to be sure that you know about The Mad Popper. It is a sensational gourmet popcorn shop located at Homestead Market on NC-54. The owner is Stephany Heckman, a very nice person who works incredibly hard to produce an excellent product. I can testify that their caramel popcorn is the best I've ever had, and all of their popcorn is excellent. Each week they have two specialty popcorns. This week's chocolate cheesecake is fabulous. In celebration of National Popcorn Day, Stephany is offering a 40% discount today on all in-store purchases. How great is that? I have no financial stake in the success of The Mad Popper, except that I will continue to have a supply of great popcorn as long as the store continues to prosper. Check it out.

Customer Appreciation Coupon

ONE DAY ONLY!

40% off

entire purchase at *The Mad Popper

Tuesday, January 19, 2010

Excludes tin refills, special orders and Popcorn of the Month subscriptions.

Not valid with any other offer. Valid ONLY January 19, 2010.

One coupon per customer, please. In store only.